School Song

Rugged mountains 'round about us
Rise to greet our happy throng,
As we set the echoes ringing
With our joyous triumph song.

All our hearts in Southington
High School
All our cheers are for the blue;
Loyality shall be the watchword
Of our band so staunch and true.

Happy are the days we spend here,
as we upward, onward move.
May our heart's devotion never Faithless or disloyal prove.

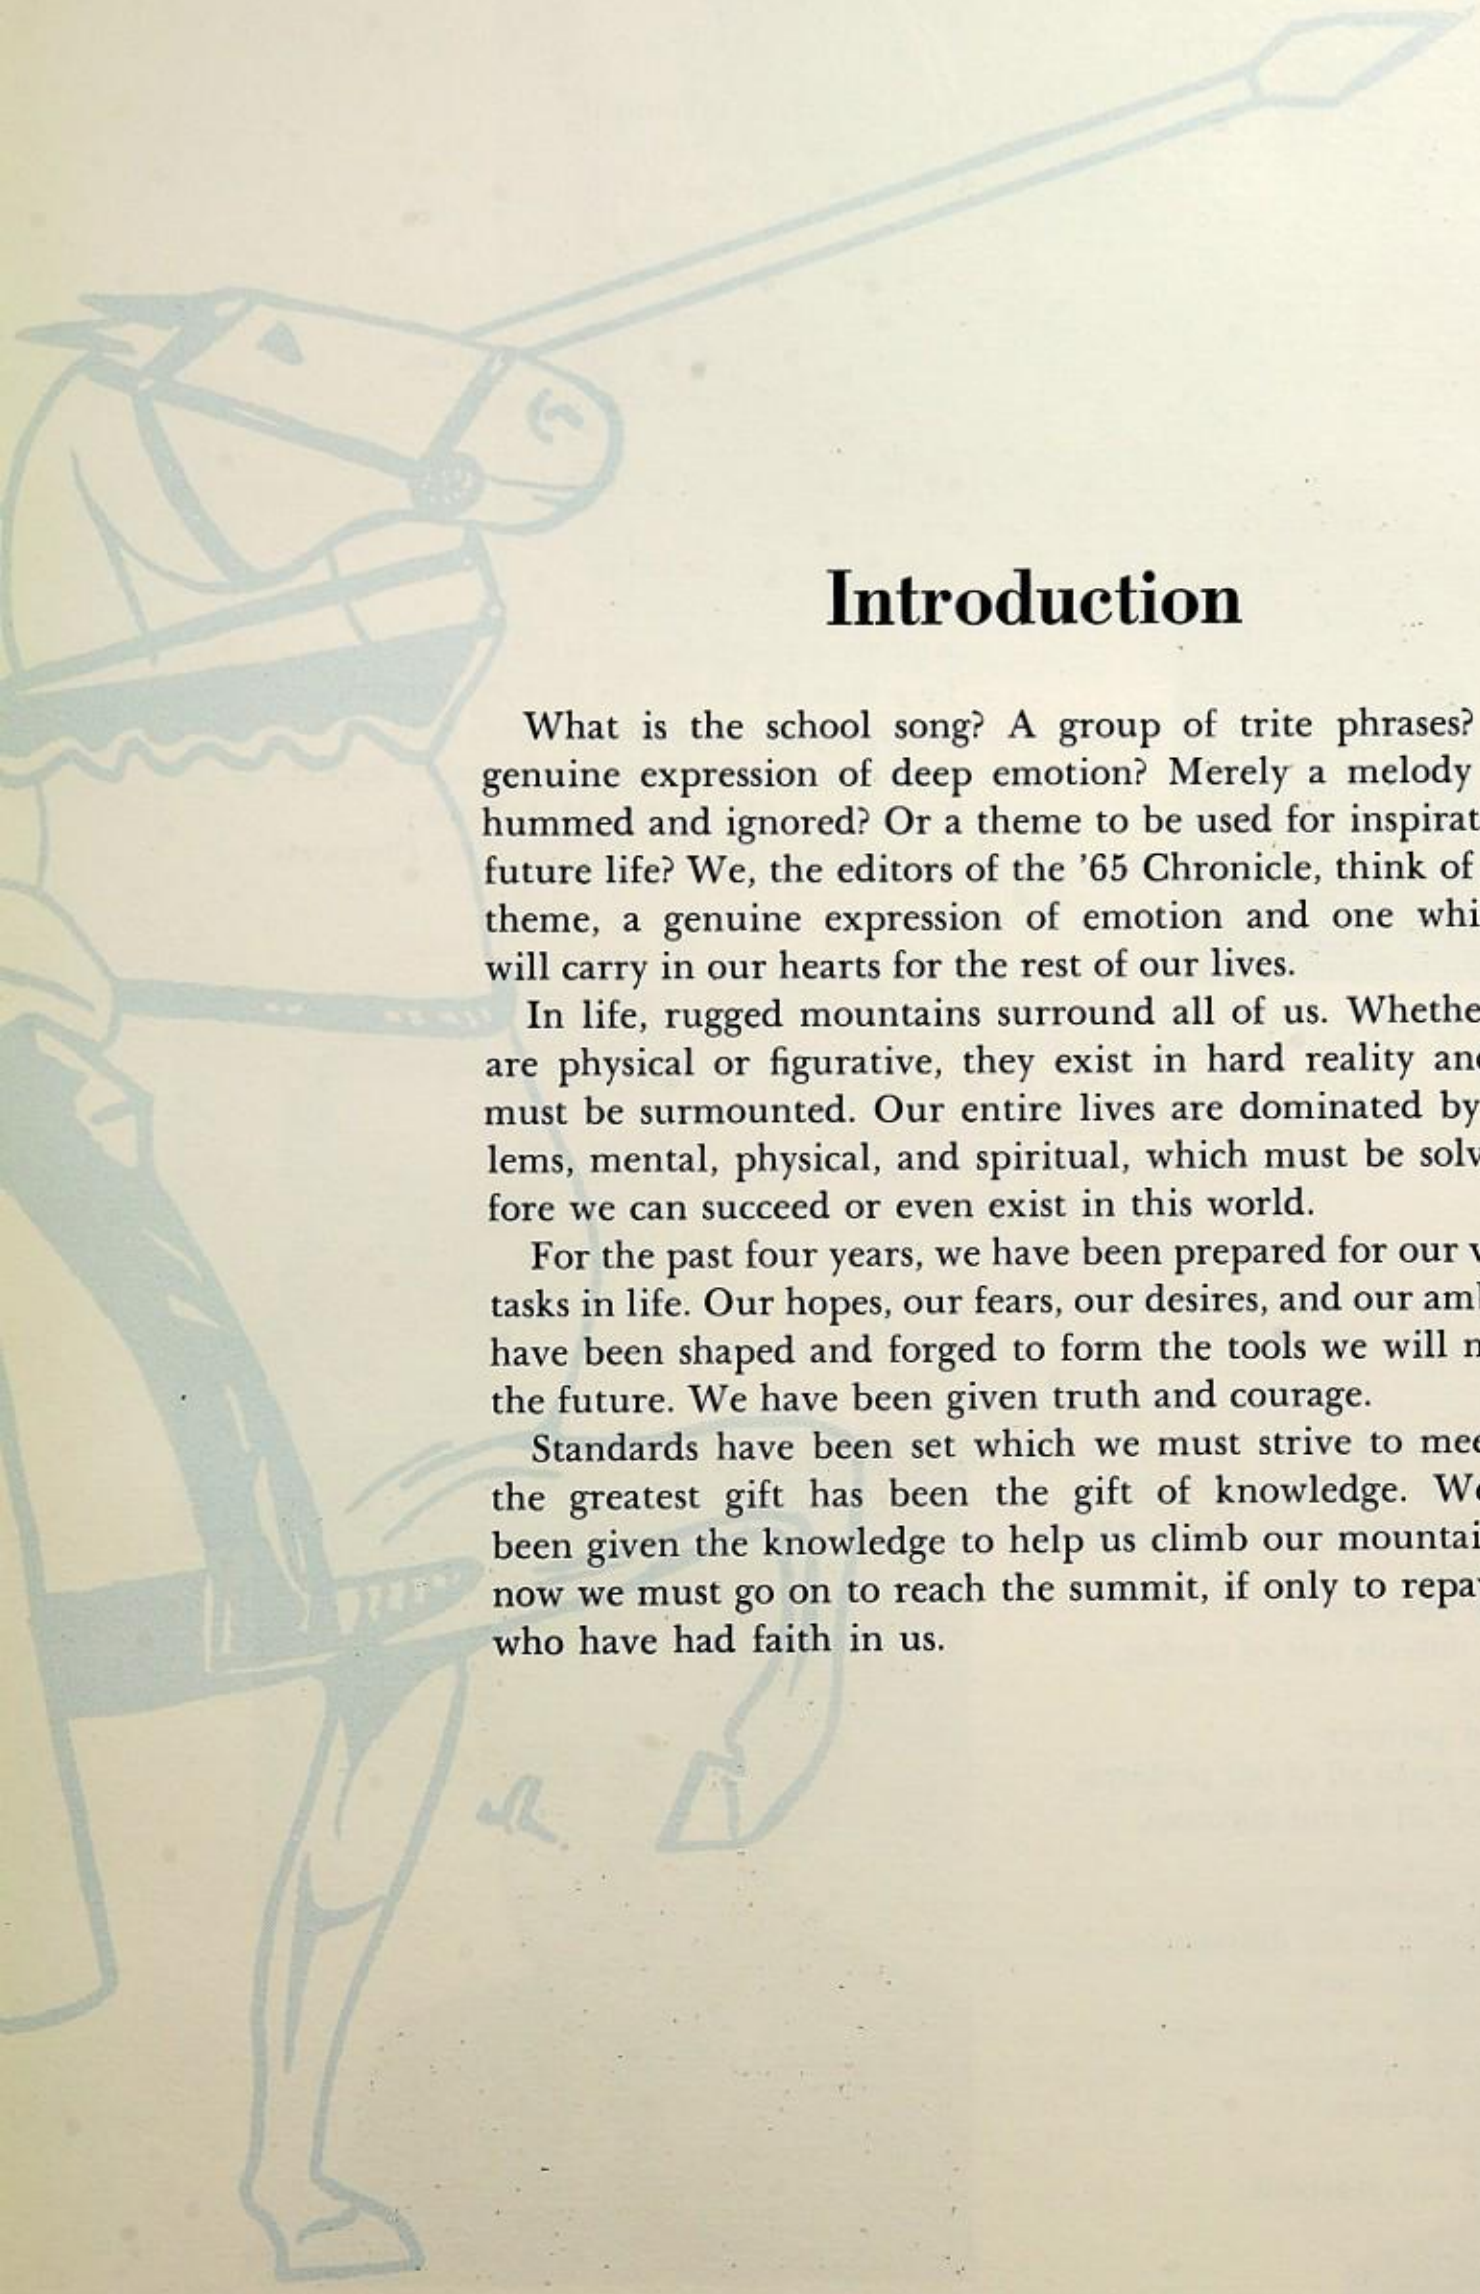
And when time shall make us workers
In this world of might and right,
May our love for Southington
High School
Keep our banner's honor bright.



Introduction

What is the school song? A group of trite phrases? Or a genuine expression of deep emotion? Merely a melody to be hummed and ignored? Or a theme to be used for inspiration in future life? We, the editors of the '65 Chronicle, think of it as a theme, a genuine expression of emotion and one which we will carry in our hearts for the rest of our lives.

In life, rugged mountains surround all of us. Whether they are physical or figurative, they exist in hard reality and they must be surmounted. Our entire lives are dominated by problems, mental, physical, and spiritual, which must be solved before we can succeed or even exist in this world.

For the past four years, we have been prepared for our various tasks in life. Our hopes, our fears, our desires, and our ambitions have been shaped and forged to form the tools we will need in the future. We have been given truth and courage.

Standards have been set which we must strive to meet. But the greatest gift has been the gift of knowledge. We have been given the knowledge to help us climb our mountains and now we must go on to reach the summit, if only to repay those who have had faith in us.

Dedication

MR. ARTHUR O'BRASKY

. . . To a man who graciously responded to our call,
when we most needed
guidance and encouragement.
. . . To a man who understands and exemplifies the true meaning of devotion and dedication.
. . . To a man who gives unstintingly of his all to the careful molding of hundreds of young lives.
. . . To a man who embodies all of the fine attributes of a dynamic and effective teacher.
. . . To a man for whom the faculty, parents, townspeople, and students alike, hold deep reverence and unsurmountable respect.
. . . Yes, to you, Mr. Arthur M. O'Brasky, we proudly dedicate this our 1965 Chronicle.

. . . For your time and patience
as you guided us through the sundry trials and numerous difficulties of our first three years of high school.
. . . For your time and patience
as you played the difficult role of teacher, advisor, and friend.
. . . For your time and patience
as you taught us to make all of our problems little problems, and all of our successes, magnificent.
. . . For your time and patience
as you sought to mediate our differences, stir us from our complacency,
and maintain among us a strong unity flavored with healthy differences.
. . . For your time and patience,
Mr. Michael Patkoske,
we dedicate to you our yearbook.

MR. MICHAEL PATKOSKE

Class Advisor, Mr. Arthur O'Brasky counsels his seniors.

In Appreciation

MR. RAYMOND JOYAL

. . . Conscientious, concerned, watchful and unerring,
you guided our yearbook
along the path marked success.
. . . Painstakingly, carefully,
devotedly and wisely,
you provided us with advice and encouragement,
both important products
of your many years of experience.
. . . Grateful, thankful,
in all modesty and humility,
we take this opportunity to manifest our appreciation for your sage assistance and direction.

. . . Willingly—you assumed the task of directing our senior play.
. . . Ably—you put together the appropriate ingredients exactingly to make our play a huge success.
. . . Tirelessly—you labored
long hours and many days,
striving always toward perfection.
. . . Thankfully—we offer
these heartfelt words
in humble appreciation
for your devoted service.

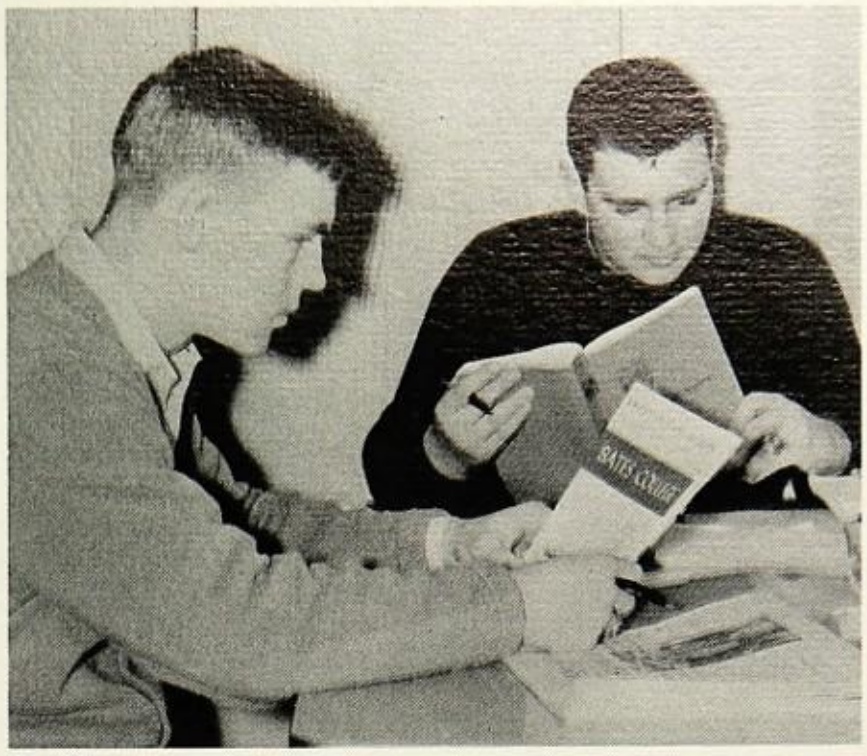
Guidance

MR. RAYMOND F. WALSH

Mr. Raymond F. Walsh, head of the guidance department, has been with us for five years. He is a graduate of Providence College where he received his Bachelor of Arts degree. He obtained his Masters of Arts degree from the University of Connecticut.

Three years ago, Mr. Snow joined our guidance office on a part time basis. This is his first year at the High School on a full time basis. He graduated from Teachers College of Connecticut with a Bachelor of Science degree. He received his M. E. D. and C. A. C. S. from the University of Hartford.

MR. WILLIAM E. SNOW



The Bates bound student is Brian Heller, while Bob Nigro is still making his choice.

If all guidance meant was selecting a career, then Southington High, at a slight expense could install an IBM computer in the lobby; push a button and out comes an aptitude test and a college catalogue. It doesn't work that way however. Machines today solve quadratic equations, compute the weight of the earth, and even predict presidential elections but they can't listen patiently to the problems of young people and offer understanding and offer help.

This is why Superintendent John Farr has enlisted the aid of two men, Raymond Walsh and William Snow. Together they have attempted to unmuddle the muddled adolescence-adulthood of several hundred seniors and shape some kind of direction into their lives.

To them the class of '65 is thankful.

Mr. Walsh helps student in college selection.

Curriculum

". . . In this world of might and right, . . . "

Southington High tries to develop not only the academic aspect of the student but also strives for the creation of a mature adult. Our curriculum has been expanded greatly in our four short years here. The addition of Sociology, Creative Writing, Public Speaking, Italian, and a new Vocational Agriculture building have helped to inhance our facilities. Yet rising above the course of instruction are our dedicated teachers, keenly aware of the needs of the individual student.

ENGLISH

Southington High offers a diversified cross-section of four year courses.

Academic English, designed for college preparatory students, emphasizes American and English literature. Standard English, while similar to Academic, serves a wider range of students. General English stresses grammar and writing.

In addition to English, Southington High offers Creative writing and Public speaking. These are senior courses. The former, offered to those with an eighty-five per cent or better average in English, provides an exacting program of written expression. The latter gives an opportunity for a concentrated study of speaking.

LANGUAGE

Southington High School offers its students an enriched and creative language program. It offers instruction in three Romance languages; Spanish, French, and Italian; one classical languages; Latin, and one Germanic language; German.

In an effort to coordinate the language programs of Southington schools, all teachers of languages have participated in a series of conferences which have resulted in a comprehensive three year language program. Consequently, students now are being taught the basic elements of foreign languages in both the seventh and eighth grades and are thoroughly prepared for a more complete study when they enter high school. Not only is this beneficial to the students, because most have never before encountered a foreign language, but also because many students, upon reaching high school, may delve more deeply into the cultural and artistic elements characteristic of every language.

SCIENCE

Southington High School is very fortunate in having a progressive and adaptable science department that keeps pace with the latest developments as well as giving the students a firm base in the unchanging fundamentals of the sciences.

The four year science curriculum at Southington High School starts with earth science and general science followed in the next year by biology. As juniors and seniors, the students are offered the lab sciences—chemistry, physics, and advanced biology.

Graduates of Southington High are proving in colleges and in professional positions that knowledge gained from these courses is providing scientific talent to meet an ever growing need.

MATHEMATICS

Math is a dynamic department. There is no exception here at Southington. These revolutions have not changed the basics of math; rather they have strengthened the bond between its concepts and life.

Many students and teachers alike, have found this transition to new approaches a difficult one to undergo. It has required, in some instances, a reversal of the reasoning they have long been accustomed to employing. Yet these difficulties cannot keep math from surging forward.

The numerous math courses at Southington include subjects from Business Math to Trigonometry. The modern world has enlarged the need for a sound math background.

BUSINESS

A sound knowledge of the necessary skills is of utmost importance to the boy or girl planning to enter the business world.

In order to simplify the taking of dictation, the student is offered training in the language of signs and symbols. He is also offered a course in bookkeeping and in the adept operation of office machines. In office practice, the business students put this knowledge to the test.

Not only does the business department prepare the interested student for a career in the business world, but it also aids in the production of the Emblem, the school newspaper.

SOCIAL STUDIES

If it's a knowledge of our country and world that he is looking for at S.H.S., the social studies department supplies the student with a comprehensive field of instruction.

The first courses offered the student, Ancient History and Civics, make him aware of past civilizations, and their importance. Modern and World History, both offered to the student's in his second year, are concerned with events of major importance in economics and politics and other countrys' culture and values. Also included is Economic Geography which provides a background to their economic systems and environments. In the third year, United States History is the required course for all students. The course is an important one, since its full emphasis is put on the American society and its history. In the last year, Sociology and Problems of American Democracy are the courses offered. They give us a deeper understanding into the motivations of society.

All the history courses are closely related and the student should be able to apply his knowledge and increase his understanding of the world as it is now, thus making him a true citizen of his country and the world.

The S.H.S. Band rehearses on stage for the next assembly.

aspires towards the condition of music."

Walter Pater

The Band begins practice by playing "Warm up, Tune up."

MUSIC DEPARTMENT

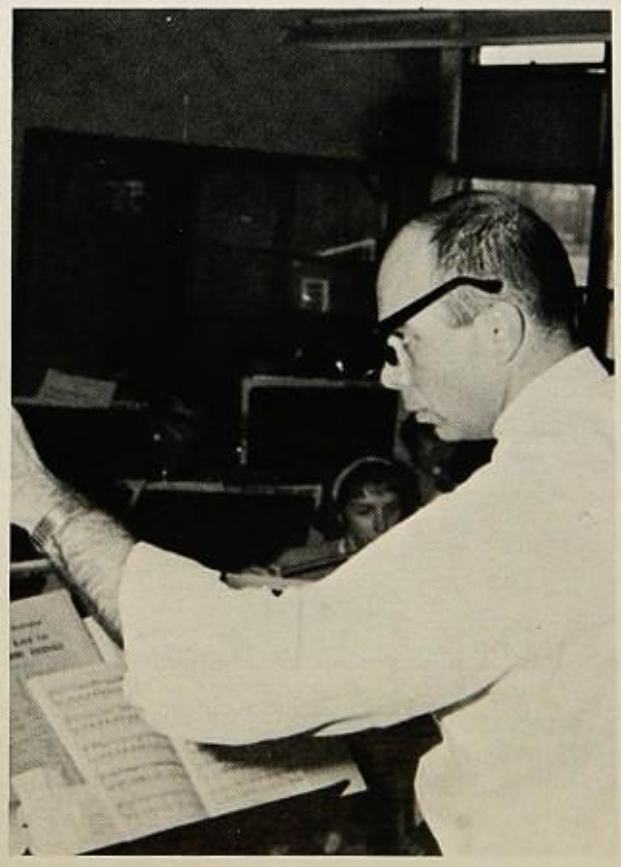
The music department has been characterized by a vast increase in enrollment during the past few years. An ever expanding program is keeping pace with the increase.

Students first entering the high school have five subjects offered to them in this department. Beginners Band, a full credit subject, is for those who are desirous of learning to play a brass or reed instrument. For the more-experienced musicians, Band and Orchestra, both full credit courses, are offered. The band lists marching and assemblies among its outside activities, while the orchestra performs at concerts and special assemblies.

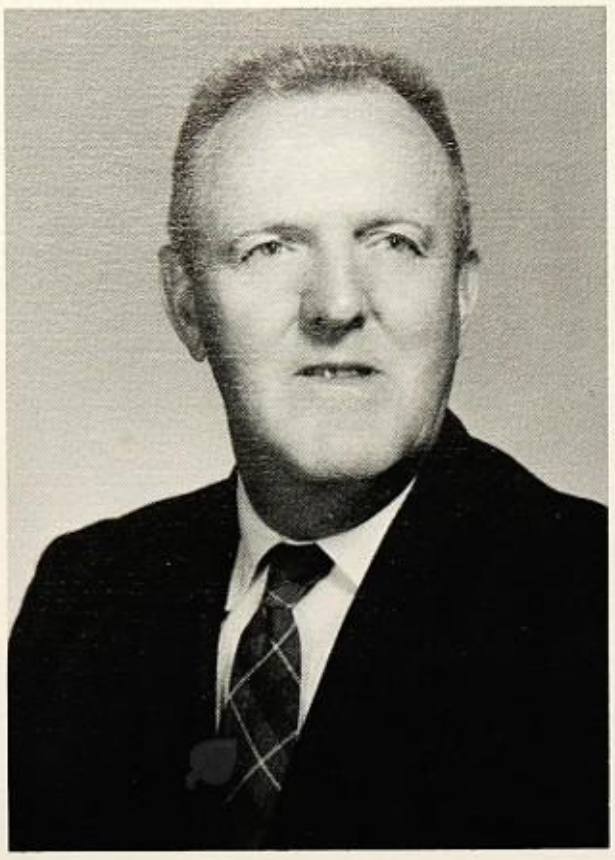
Mixed Chorus and Girl's Chorus are offered to all students, placement depending on ability. Meeting twice a week, these are half-credit subjects. The students enrolled are required to attend and perform at concerts.

Juniors and Seniors may take Music Appreciation, which covers the history and theory of music. Like all other courses offered by the music department, Conrad A. Gozzo teaches Music Appreciation.

Mr. Gozzo directs a Band rehearsal.



Industrial Arts



MR. ANDREW McSORLEY

Mr. McSorley, head of the Industrial Arts department, instructs classes in wood shop. He holds a Bachelor of Education and a Master of Arts Degree. He attended Gotham State Teachers College, Central Connecticut State Teachers College, University of Connecticut, University of Maine, University of Alaska, and the University of Hawaii. Mr. McSorley has taught for twenty-eight years at Southington.

INDUSTRIAL ARTS

Whether guiding the student along the path to his chosen vocation or developing in him a well-rounded background of related crafts, the Industrial Arts curriculum teaches the skills necessary for any profession.

Courses that the student may study include: Metal Shop, Wood Shop, Mechanical Drawing, Arts and Crafts, and Arts.

The student is given the opportunity to directly incorporate his textbook knowledge with classroom instructions through the use of the excellent equipment and facilities of the department.

HOMEMAKING

Homemaking at Southington High is not merely concerned with cooking and sewing.

This essential department prepares girls for family living, with units of study such as housing, personal and family relationships, and child care; also included are courses in family health, and family economics.

The invaluable experience gained here, is taken with the girls into future life. The departments various studies are derived from the needs and interests of its students.

Undoubtedly, this department contributes to the fulfillment of a competant woman.

Agriculture

KENNETH C. FARMER

Heading the Agruculture department is Mr. Farmer, who has been teaching here for nine years. He attended Pennsylvania State University, receiving his Bachelor of Science and Master of Education Degrees. Mr. Farmer teaches classes in Agriculture at Southington High's Vocational Agriculture center. He is also the advisor to the local chapter of the Future Farmers of America.

The dreams of our Agricultural department have materialized in the presence of the regional Vocational-Agricultural center on our school grounds. The new building and its extensive facilities provide young men with a sound basis for further study in agriculture. The classrooms, laboratory, shop, greenhouses, cold frames, hotbeds, and experimental plots of the center give a future farmer or conservationist the knowledge and experience necessary to meet the demands of the future.

The Agriculture department offers not only courses in livestock and crop production but also in forestry, greenhouse management, conservation, insect control, mechanical repair, and soil grading. Through these courses, young men may receive training for over five hundred skilled professions in agriculture. This curriculum provides a student with the necessary background to pursue the field of his choice in college.

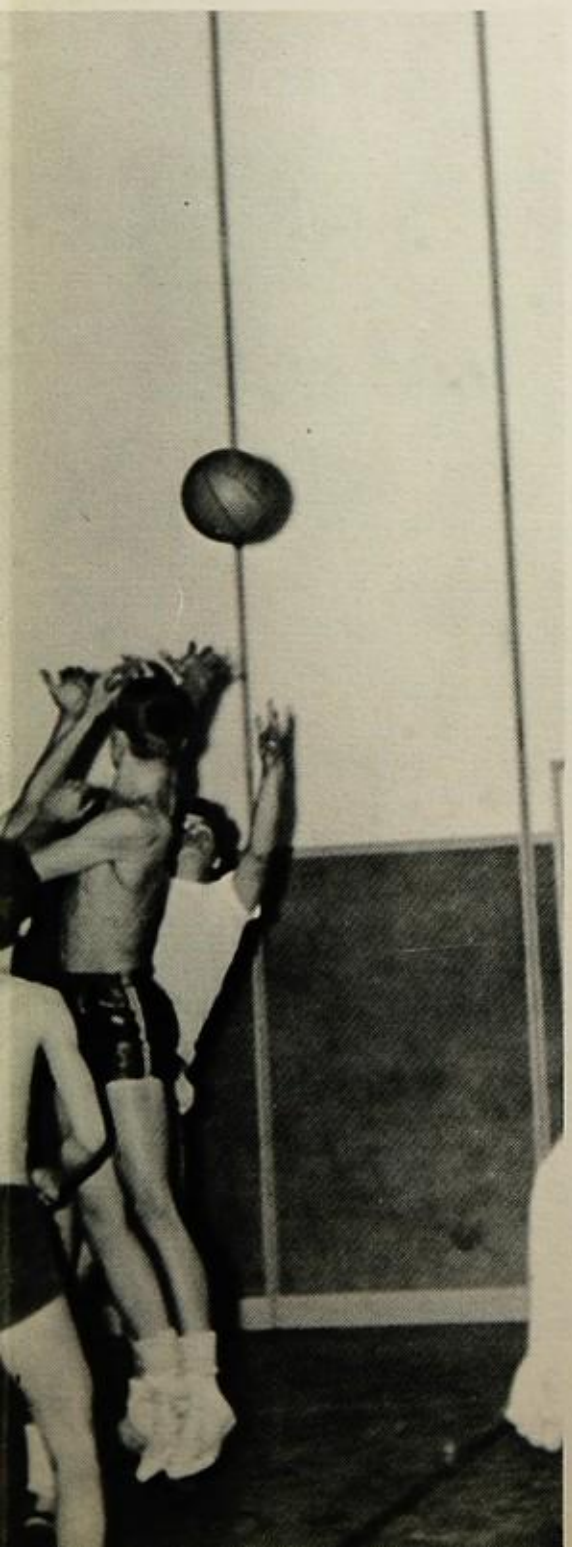
PHYSICAL EDUCATION

The gym is a handy little room. You can use it for storage or, if you like, you can hold a prom in it.

Mr. Joseph Orsene, who heads up the physical education department, might even go so far as to call it the best all-purpose room in the school. After all, you can't play volleyball in the chem. lab.

It's beneath the gigantic roof of that gymnasium that the class of '65 for the last four years has been dashing in and out approximately twice a week. In between those sprints from the locker room, the present-day seniors found time to excercise up a good sweat for the Army Physical Fitness Test, whack a few tennis balls, shoot a few baskets and climb the ropes a couple of times. Physical Education at S.H.S., however, isn't limited to indoor activity. There's always plenty of time in the spring and autumn months for softball and touch football.

Now most seniors won't deny that there hasn't been at least one time they have wished they could have skipped gym, but sweat or not sweat, they usually agree that physical education is an integral part of their high school education.



Its a battle under the boards in the Boys Phys. Ed. class.

Class Poem

The purpose, the reason, the why of my existence?
A trifling particle of human life
Obscured by a mammoth world,
I exist, but to what end, and at whose insistence?
Bewildered, perplexed, I contemplate the problem;
And hours of inner searching yield
An answer, clear and lucid:
I exist, as does the sun, for that selfsame purpose.
The emergence, the dawning, the gleam at morningtide,
A common occurence of no great moment,
Unnoticed the world over;
Yet significant, as was my birth, to the future of mankind.
Undaunted, unfailing, it performs its task dutifully.
Its daily course—the course of my life,
Taking from mankind the raw ingredients,
We give, a fuller store, an immeasureable gift:
At evening, the sun fades, with daily task accomplished.
Its contribution to human life
Will live, though darkness falls:
My end—as quiet and as calm, and with the same importance.
I was born, I exist, I shall die, but all for one reason.
To give a part of myself to all mankind
Unimportant though it may seem.
I exist, and will always exist, though I am dead.

CLASS HISTORY

In September of 1961 seniors stood in shock as freshmen, pint-sized and perplexed, paraded through the halls of SHS. The typical upperclassmen reaction: "I looked like that once?"

The answer, though perhaps most seniors wouldn't care to admit it, is yes.

It was not so long ago though, that the class of '65 first stumbled into Southington High just as the present freshman did in September.

It was all new then, and strange. And to help us along the way, the class was given an advisor, Mr. Michael Patkoske. He was just as new at advising as we were at being advised. That way we learned together.

A few weeks after the traditional Welcome Dance and the brief initiation consisting of "good clean fun,"—lugging books, eating babyfood, and wearing lipstick (on your clothes?)—the first of many class meetings was held. Noreen Rich was elected President, Dave Carbone (Vice-Pres.), Donna Cardinale (Sec.), and Wayne Chopus (Treas.).

Once organized we began to make our presence known as individuals as a class. In baseball Jimmy Scott swung a varsity bat. In basketball John Aduskevitch saw action in J.V. and varsity contests. And in track and on the cross country turf, Steve Frank was already aiming for distance records. Socially, Kathy Farmer had won approval by her classmates, qualifying for the Homecoming candidacy. Academically, Larry D'Angelo and Ed Neff received recognition, capturing the Freshman Latin Prize and the Algebra Prize respectively.

Meanwhile our first Frosh effort, a record hop called Freshmen Friction, served notice to the student body that we thought that "class participation" was more of a credo than a cliche. That, plus a first place in the Talent show did not forewarn a heart-breaking loss in the Magazine Drive.

The class of '65 was on the move.

By our Sophomore year, as might be expected, we began to look less like Freshmen and more like human beings. For one thing we grew more mature. For another, we stopped using that greasy kid's stuff.

The Class of '65 relinquished its hold on the Talent Show, but won the Magazine Drive championship that year—but not without a fight—then settled back to relax before the whirl of upperclassmen social activity began.

The new officers, President Duke Grise, Vice-President Sam Longo, Secretary Donna Cardinale, and Treasurer Wayne Chopus, helped organize the lone class function, the Sophomore Kickoff dance. Commented Advisor Patkoske, "A mild success."

Toward June, sophomore cheerleaders were selected. Chosen were Karen Dutton, Ann DellaBitta, Gail DeBisschop, Donna Cardinale, Maureen Phillips and Janet Borowski.

It was a slow year, but even though social life came to a standstill, grades were on the rise. We had more first and second honors that year than any previous class. Noted Guidance Director Raymond Walsh at a sophomore assembly, "Tests have shown that students born in 1947 have a higher intelligence than those born prior or following those years." We laughingly agreed. Later when we got back our NEDT scores, we stopped laughing.

the Good Years

selected for Laurel Girls' State.

Following the April Induction by the National Honor Society, the Student Council elections brought a whirlwind of political activity to Southington High. Twice class President Duke Grise was voted by the Student Body to preside over the Council. Noreen Rich was chosen Vice-President and Karen Dutton, Secretary.

In club ballotting, Larry D'Angelo headed up the Key Club, George Malczyk the NHS, Maxine Plourd the FBLA, Lynn Doerfler the FNA, Donna Massaro the FTA, Maureen Phillips the Pep Club, Dan Jones the Photography Club, John Mattas the Language Club, Connie Pesce and Virginia Hurle the Drama Club, Connie Pesce and Larry D'Angelo the Chronicle, Louella Ouellette The Law Club and Al Furst the Emblem.

Besides electing ten Council members, the class chose its officers: Sam Longo (Pres.), Roger Sullivan (Vice-Pres.), Donna Cardinale (Sec.), and Wayne Chopus (Treas.).

It wasn't a bad year if you liked to vote.

The long-awaited senior year finally rolled around and with it came all the big events—the Senior Play, "The Man Who Came to Dinner," starring Dan Jones, Class Day, Class Night, the Chronicle unveiling, the Senior Prom "Roman Gardens." Moreover we earned the right to terrorize freshmen. And even though Advisor Michael Patkoske had left us, we luckily found an energetic man, Arthur O'Brasky, who seemed to enjoy the festivities even more than we did.

Now only a few short weeks remain. It was a good year—even if the Yankees didn't win the World Series.

The big highlight for the following year was the Junior Prom held late in January. Our Advisor, working with the same slate of officers and literally almost the entire class, transformed the gymnasium into the dreamy mountain ski lodge, in a "Wonderland by Night." The next morning after it was over, Mr. Patkoske, along with the clean-up committee, transformed the lodge back into a gym. Co-chairmen for the Prom: Bob Nigro and Noreen Rich. The king and queen, crowned by class President Duke Grise, were Ken Kopka and Gail DeBisschop.

Only a step behind the Prom in attention-getting and excitement was the Homecoming weekend during October. Helen Lipstadt was chosen among ten candidates including classmates Jayne Martin, Pat Stepensky, Kathy Farmer, Noreen Rich, Janet Borowski and Pam Morse.

"Teen Antics," the Junior Play starring Walt Peidl, Susan Peterson, Jayne Martin, Chris Patz, Connie Pesce, and Dan Jones, was staged late in winter close on the heels of the Prom. Mr. Patkoske and Mr. Philip Goodrow directed.

Besides notching up a first place in the Talent Show, the Juniors also initiated a new "Collegiate" class ring trend at SHS.

In individual honors, Florence Wright won the Junior Recital, Vic Cefaratti, all-state orchestra second year running, Walt Peidl the Northern Connecticut Science Fair plus state and national awards, Larry D'Angelo the Harvard Book Prize and special history award, and Nancy Ruth the D.A.R. History Prize and a French prize. Named to Nutmeg Boys' State were George Malczyk, Jim Potrepka, Duke Grise, Dave Carbone, Larry D'Angelo, and Ken Kopka. Donna Cardinale and Noreen Rich, who later won the D.A.R. Good Citizenship Award, were

President's Address

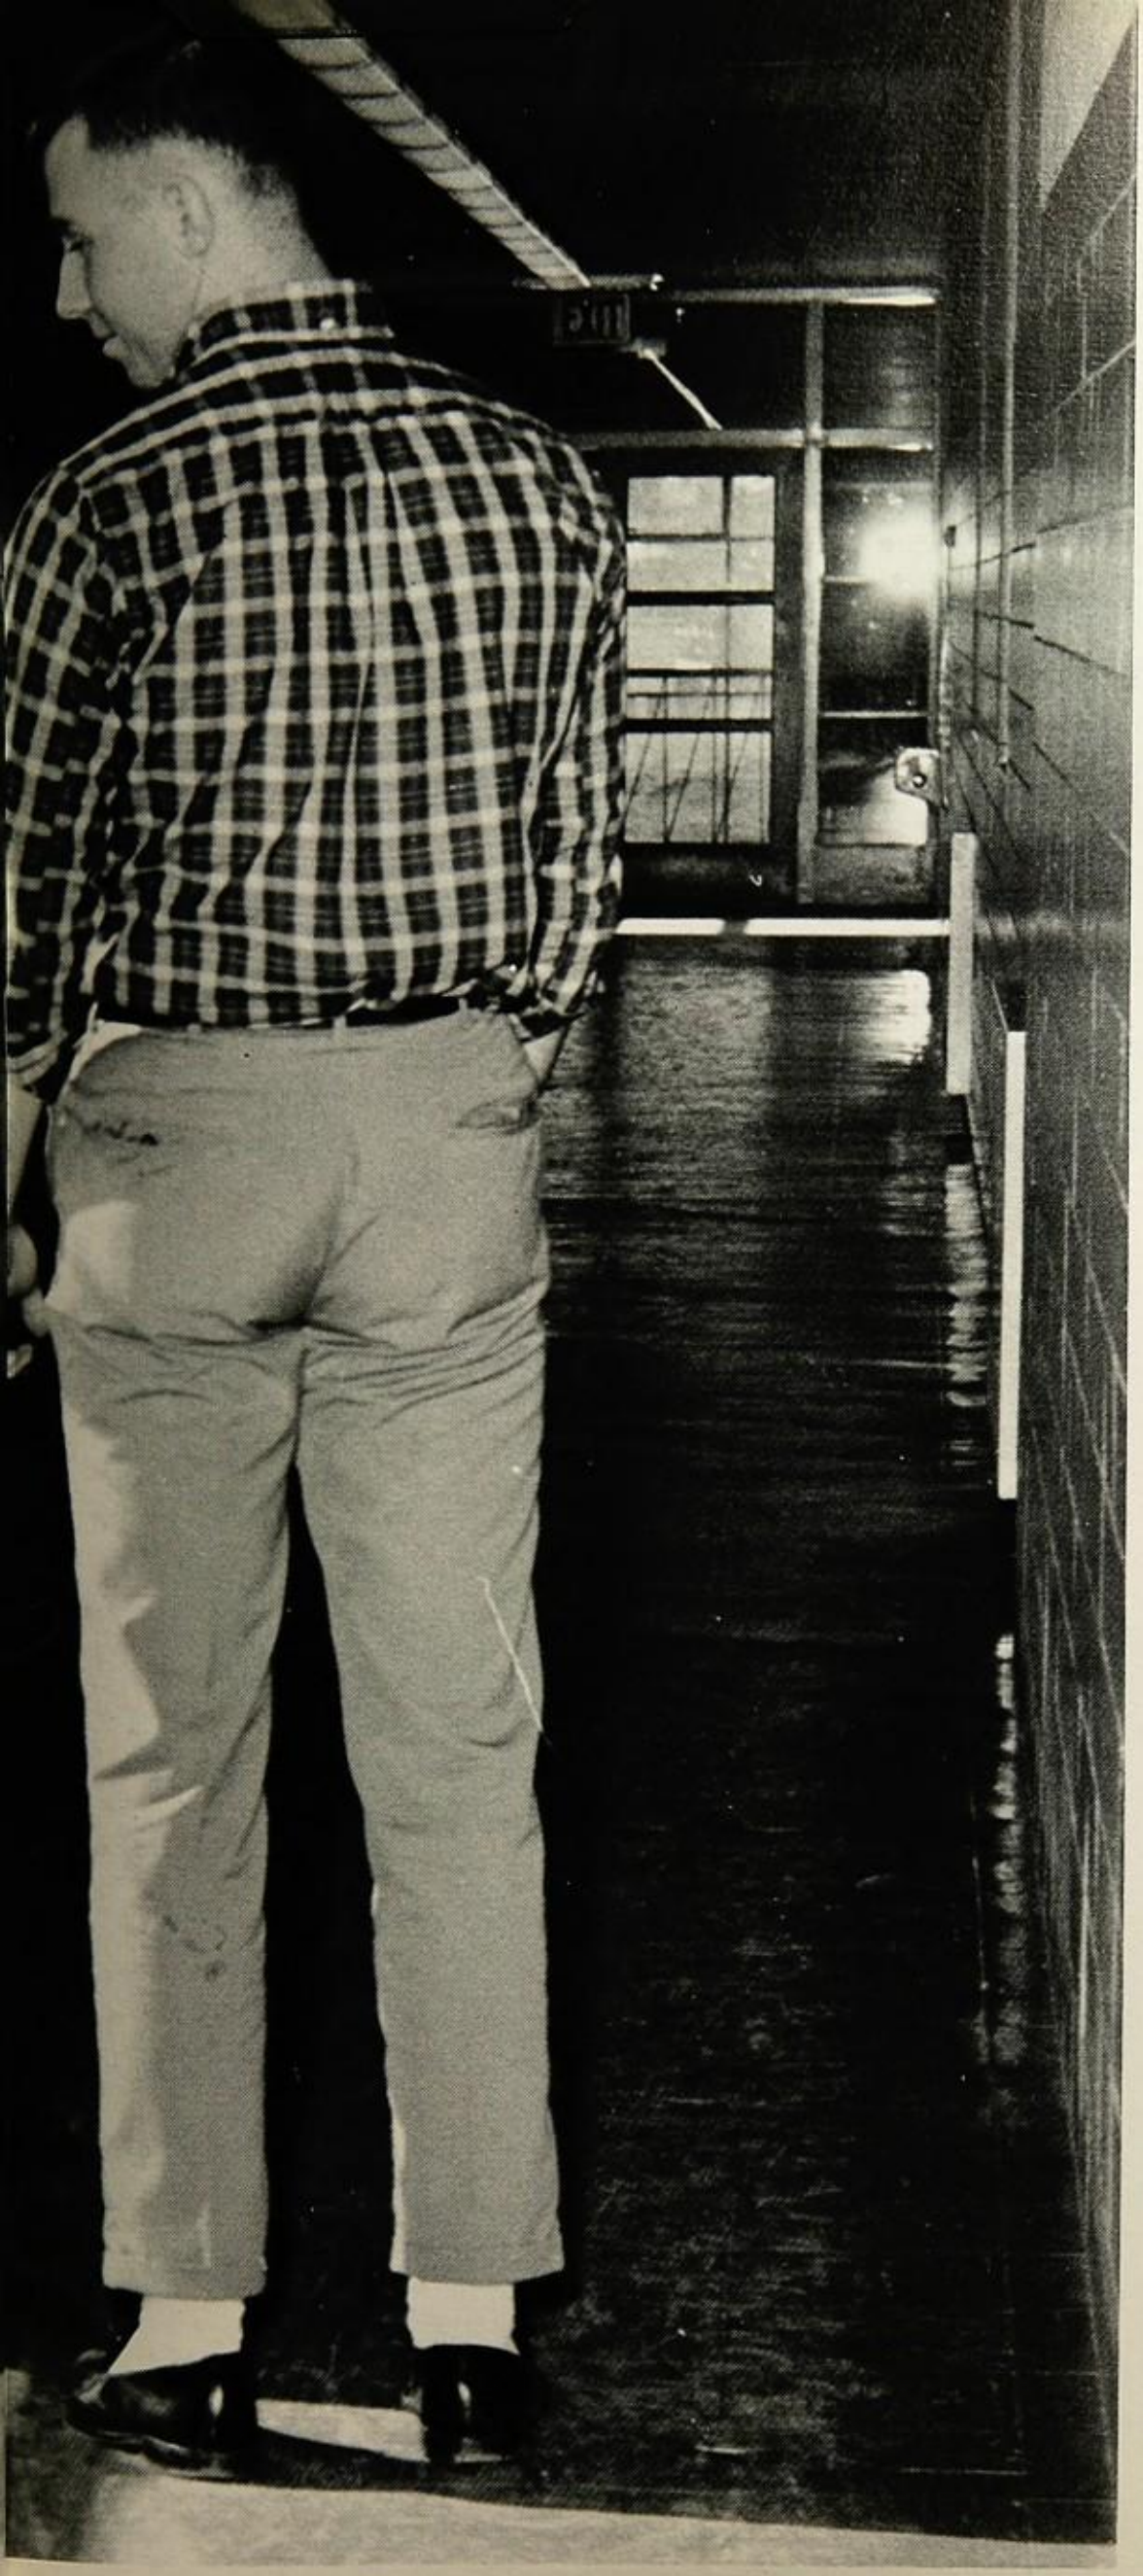
Dear Seniors:

When you reflect upon the period of your lives which was spent at Southington high school . . . will these fours years be only a blur in your past . . . or will they represent so much more than this . . .

A sense of belonging; a spirit of cooperation; a common pride; a sincere preparation for a successful and satisfying future. I am certain that you the members of the class of 1965 are to be included among the latter group for, having worked with you this year as your class president, I have come to know you as the untiring and cheerful workers; the thoughtful and understanding companions; the spirited and exhuberant leaders.

May I take this opportunity to congratulate all of you and to assure you of success in your individual fields of interest, for which Southington high school has dutifully prepared you.

Very truly yours,
SAVERIO J. LONGO
Class President
1965



"Gee George, it looks like he dropped his books. Isn't that too bad!"

Underclassmen

"Happy are the days we spend here . . ."

For all the grandeur that the Seniors may pretend to possess, the heart of Southington high school lies in the three classes which make up that group known as "Underclassmen." Their contributions to all our activities and even more important, to the general spirit of the school serve as the nucleus on which Southington high runs.

JUNIOR CLASS OFFICERS (Bot.-Top) Ralph Passerelli (Pres.), John Landino (V. Pres.), Susan Josephson (Sec.), Fred Pelletier (Treas.).

Juniors Prep

Toni DeNorfia makes sure that her model Rit Sidorik exemplifies everything that's classically Greek.

Guided by class advisor Mr. Dominic Giallello and led by capable officers, the class of 1966 this year busily prepared to assume the role as next year's school leaders. Class president Ralph Passerelli, Vice-President John Landino, secretary Susan Josephson, and treasurer Fred Pelletier held the reins as class leaders in 1965.

The first half of the year saw the class placing second in both the talent show and the magazine drive. Their next venture was a successful dance held on October 16, 1964.

Leadership and organization were the key words for the second half of the year when the Junior Prom, Junior Recital, and Junior play were met with an equally enthusiastic response.

The last activity was the Junior play, "You Can't Take It With You," which received fine support. It was a good year, one in which the Juniors learned and applied themselves with zeal.

Is the class of '66 ready for its role as leaders? Only the next year can answer that question.

"Heaven's Gate" is seen towering in the background behind these dancing couples at the Junior prom.

Sophs Continue Winning Precedent!

Mr. Solomita, (advisor) goes over a financial report with members of the class; they look pleased!

The class of '67 continued on its road to success as they placed first in the Talent Show, won the Magazine Drive, and contributed much to the athletic prowess of S.H.S.

In the Talent show, they not only won the talent competition, but also excelled the other classes in the ticket sale drive.

The Sophs attained a new school record in the Magazine Drive by selling 200% and winning the daily competition three out of seven days.

The Sophomore dance which was held on December fourth was a fun filled evening and most rewarding to the class treasury.

The leaders for 64-65 were: Ray Angelo, president, Chris Brennan, vice-president, Alys Osborn, secretary, and Ron Berube, treasurer; with Mr. Solomita as advisor.

Naturally confidence for continued success in '66 runs high.

Class of '68; Divided, But Still Stands.

Mr. Kloss goes over plans for the Freshmen Dance with his committee.

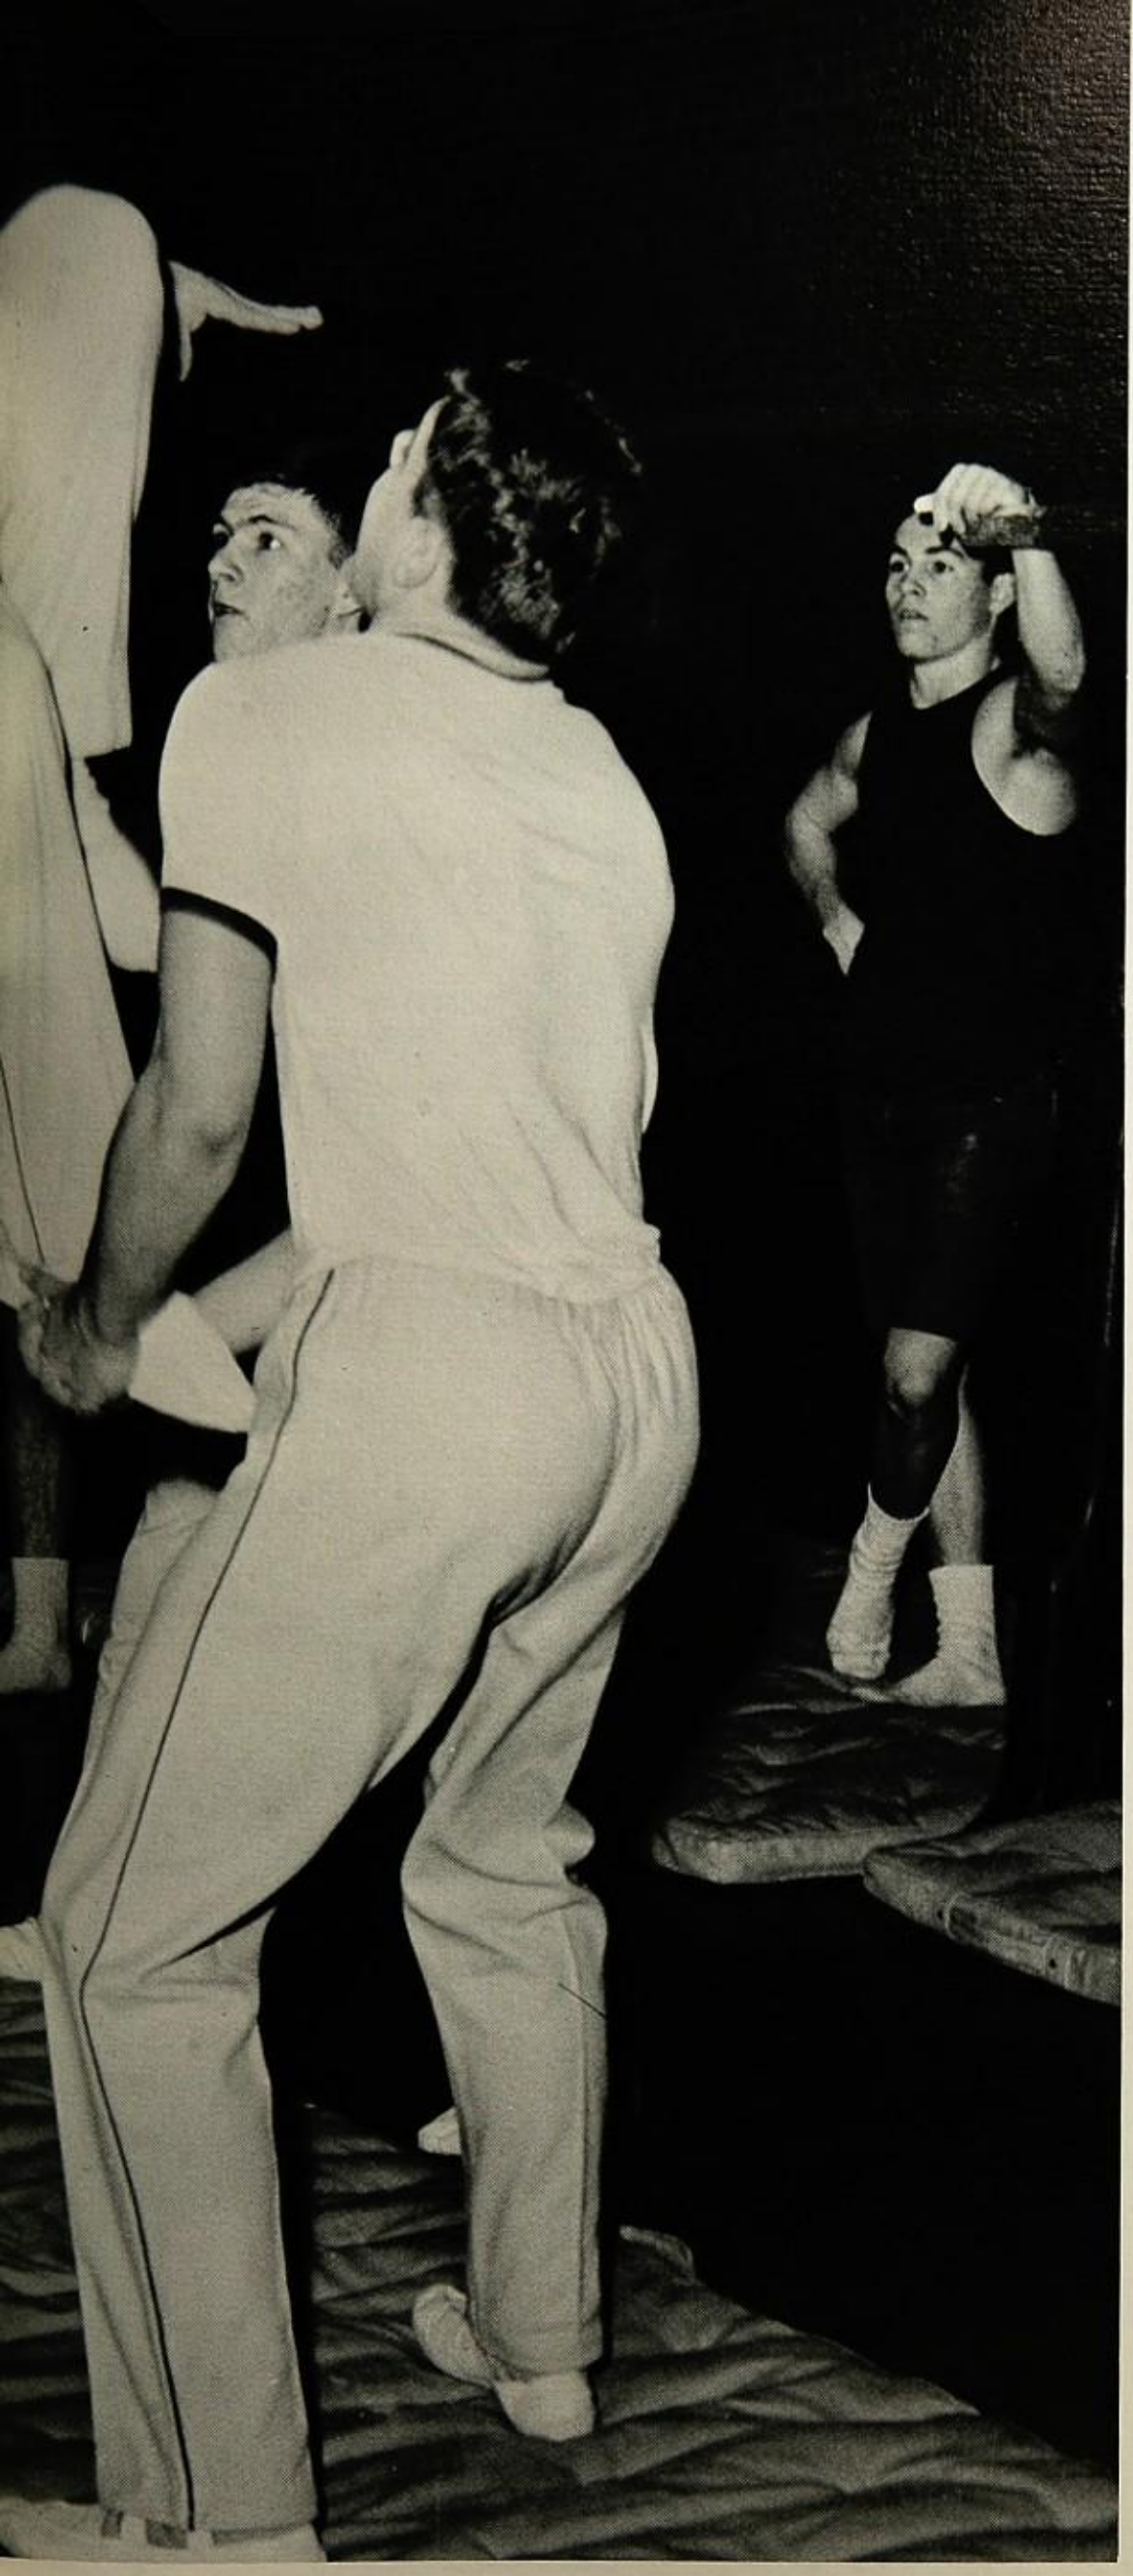
The Class of '68 is divided into two factions; part in attendance at J.F.K. Junior High School and part in attendance at S.H.S. As in any class, the Freshmen were baffled and bewildered upon their arrival at the High School—But it didn't take them long to learn the intracacies of custom and ritual.

Southington High can look forward to enthusiastic support from the class of 1968. The Freshmen football team sported an outstanding record, having bowed to only one opponent. The basketball team was noteworthy, displaying tremendous promise.

Although the Magazine Drive and Talent Show were completely new ventures for the Frosh, they placed third in both of them.

The Freshmen Dance, held on January twenty-third was a solid success and an excellent financial start for the class.

Gary Bilogna, president; Allan Botteon, vice-president; Karen Beatson, secretary; Kathy Polka, treasurer, and Mr. Kloss advisor expressed pride in the Class' record and determination that the 1965-66 school year would bring even better things for the Class of '68.



It's Up and Over for John Landino.

Activities

"All our hearts in Southington High School . . ."

Devotion to a school can be expressed in many forms. We see it on the football field Saturday afternoons, in the gym Friday nights, at dances and school functions. Yet a student's utmost devotion is exemplified in his service to his school. Partaking in the various activities helps round out the student's character and benefits the school. Active participation brings on a sense of pride in both school, community, and self.

STUDENT COUNCIL OFFICERS

(Top-Bot.) John Landino (Treas.), Karen Dutton (Sec.), Noreen Rich (V. Pres.), David Grise (Pres.).

Student Council

Southington High School's student council is a representative body, whose powers encompass the legislative and executive aspects of student government. An enlightening experience in the ways of government, the organization serves an educational as well as practical function. Its members become schooled in proper parliamentary procedure while at the same time effecting favorable teacher-student relations. The entire student body is directly affected by a' of the actions of the council, for it deals with issues of direct concern to all. Its noble civic contributions reflect the spirited an interested support which the student body provides.

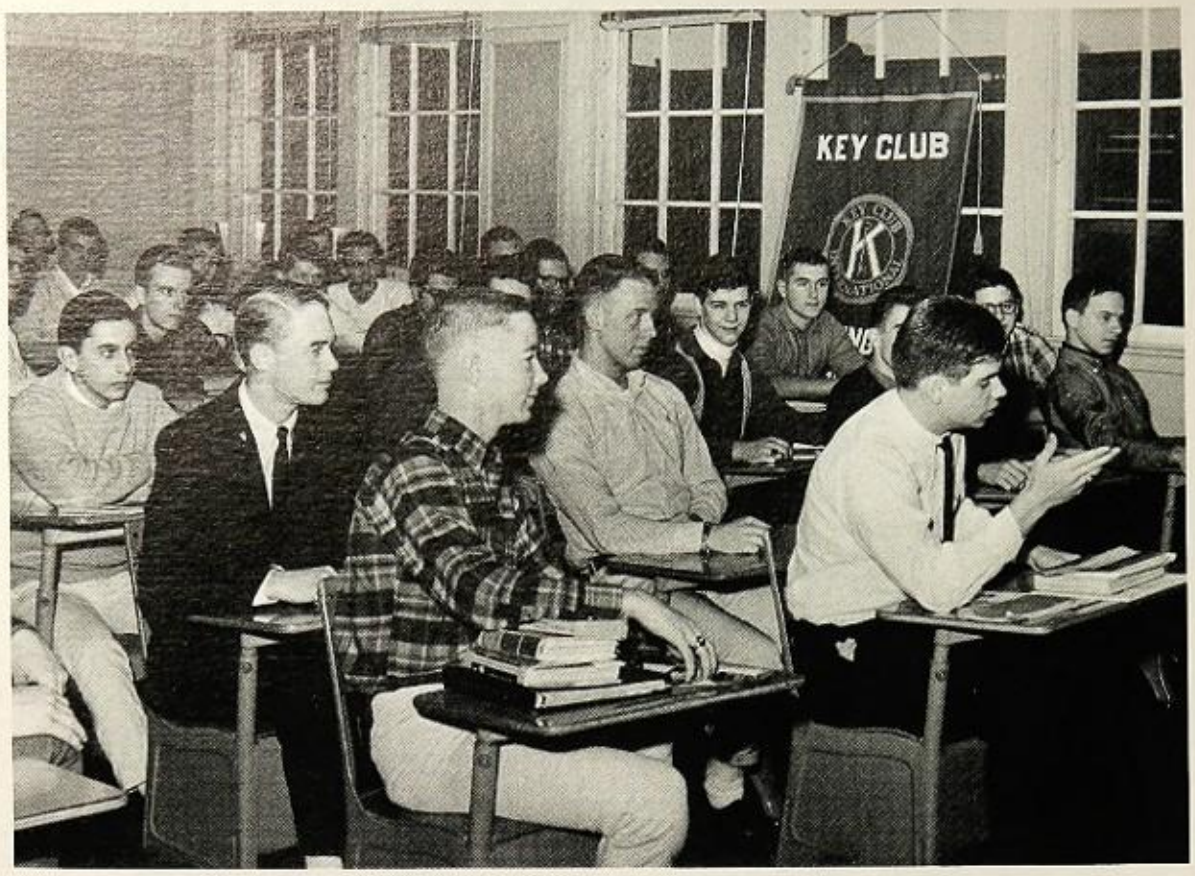
National Honor Society

"Since when did Rousseau begin to write Elephant jokes?"
(National Honor Society members discuss a philosophical point)

Leadership, scholarship, service, and character are the prime requisites of not only a good student but also a good citizen. The members of the National Honor Society are chosen because they best exemplify these characteristics. Thus the Honor Society is composed not of eggheads (although members must have an 85 or above average) throughout their high school career) but of well-rounded students who are a credit to their community.

With the help of Mrs. Churchill, the National Honor Society is held in the esteem of all acquainted with its achievements.



George Guildner (rt. front) addresses the chair.

Key Club

A Kiwanis sponsored school service organization, the Key Club continued to serve "school and community" through various projects and activities. Serving as host for the annual traffic assembly, the club earned deserved recognition.

Under the direction of Mr. Hussey, club advisor, the boys strove to live up to their motto, "We Build". Membership, open to selective civic-minded young men, was the largest ever, as interest was stimulated by the clubs active participation in school and community.

The Emblem is Southington's award-winning newspaper magazine. For another year the paper scored an impressive first place in the annual Columbia Scholastic Press Conference. Staffed entirely by students and printed in the school, the Emblem reached new heights in student appeal this year with its revamped style. Along with its ten regular editions, the Emblem ambitiously tackled its annual literary issue. All this added up to another successful year for the young journalists of Southington High.

Gymnastics

"Egad!" (John Landino looks a trifle worried as he performs his flying leap.)

Newly formed this year from the general interest of a great number of students in gymnastics and body-building, the Gymnastics Club stresses physical training. The purpose of the club lies in the development of skill and co-ordination as well as strength. Performing on the mats, ropes, side horse, and parallel bars helps interested boys gain confidence in their own ability.

One of the longest continuous activities in the school, the bowling club provides ample recreation and enjoyment for all its members. Mrs. Prevost, the club's advisor, supervises the interested members as they build skill in a sport which is so readily adaptable for an activity later.

Helping to lead gym classes, sponsoring various sporting events, and generally reflecting qualities of leadership and sportsmanship are the major undertakings of the Boys' Leadership Club. Consisting of Junior and Senior boys under the direction of coaches Joseph Orsene and Wayne Nakoneczny, the Leadership Club sacrifices hours of study halls to help train their classmates in the fundamentals of sports while exemplifying good character.

Girls' Leadership

The counterpart of the Boys' Leadership club, the Girls' Leadership group is also a club dedicated to good sportsmanship and character. These girls sacrifice time, energy, and above all patience, to aid in the instruction of gym classes. Yet their influence on team play and co-operation must be counted as their biggest contribution.

Judging by the number of Senior Leaders present, it is safe to conclude that this gym class is being more than adequately handled.

This year was a particularly active one for the Drama Club. In addition to George Lallos, the club acquired two new advisors; Mrs. Patrick, and Miss Rondinara. In the fall, the Drama Club combined with the senior class to present a smash hit "The Man Who Came To Dinner". Later, under the direction of Mrs. Patrick, the club did a one act play "Sorry Wrong Number" which was extremely well received by the student body.

A dramatic workshop was organized whereby students were given a basic background in acting techniques. The club also sponsored the film "Julius Caesar" for viewing by the Junior class. One of the high spots of the year was a trip taken by a few club members to Branford High School for the Connecticut Drama Association Conference. Spring features included a three act dramatic production, and a trip to the Shakespearian Theater in Stratford to see "The Taming of The Shrew". The year was climaxed by a field trip to New York City to see an actual Broadway hit.

The Drama club offers it participants the opportunity to express themselves through the dramatic media while providing the student body with fine entertainment.

Future Teachers

Under the direction of Mrs. Krom, the Future Teachers Club serves to acquaint interested students with the many phases of the teaching profession. The members take an active part by serving as teacher's aid in order that they may see and feel the art of teaching. Their meetings which include guest speakers and panel discussions assist the members in their understanding and realization of the problems which they must encounter in order to succeed in the teaching profession.

The Southington Chapter of the Future Nurses of America endeavors to acquaint interested girls in the nursing profession. In order to achieve this purpose, members are invited to become "volunteens" at the local hospital. Here they observe and participate in routine hospital work.

This year the club very successfully carried out the annual March of Dimes Campaign under the efficient direction of Mrs. Alyce Day. Another aspect of its activities provides the opportunity for the prospective nurses to visit nearby hospitals and become familiar with their programs.

"Learning to do, doing to learn. Earning to live, living to serve". That is the motto of the Future Farmers of America. The national organization, formed to encourage interest in competent agriculture is staffed by the local participants of the vocational Agriculture Curriculum. The club strives to build the well rounded youth whose job will someday be to feed a growing America.

Law Club

The Law Club is now in its third year of existance. The club works to acquaint young people with a practical knowledge of jurisprudence. In addition to this, the club sponsors instructional programs for both club and non-club members.

Formed in the fall of 1964, the Language Club is one of the newest organizations at Southington High School. Through their membership in this club, students are enabled to become better informed on many aspects of different cultures and civilizations. To achieve its end, the club engages guest speakers and films. A new and refreshing approach to the study of language is thus presented, as the student learns to appreciate language for its culture heritage and environment.

Under the guidance of Mrs. Gladys Brackley and Mrs. Dorothy Prevost, the girls participating are taught and encouraged to develop attitudes reflecting good sportsmanship and co-operative spirit, as well as the necessary skillful playing. During the course of the year, the girls are host to and guests of other student athletic bodies.

The Minstrels of Southington High School devote a great deal of time, effort, and talent to their work. These singers take part in various concerts throughout the year and also present selections at many assemblies. Under the direction of Conrad Gozzo, the Minstrels spend long hours striving for musical perfection.

The result is a superb group, bringing enjoyment to both town and school.

Yet the work involved is amply rewarded by fine performances.

Precision and timing are an important feature of each and every drill.

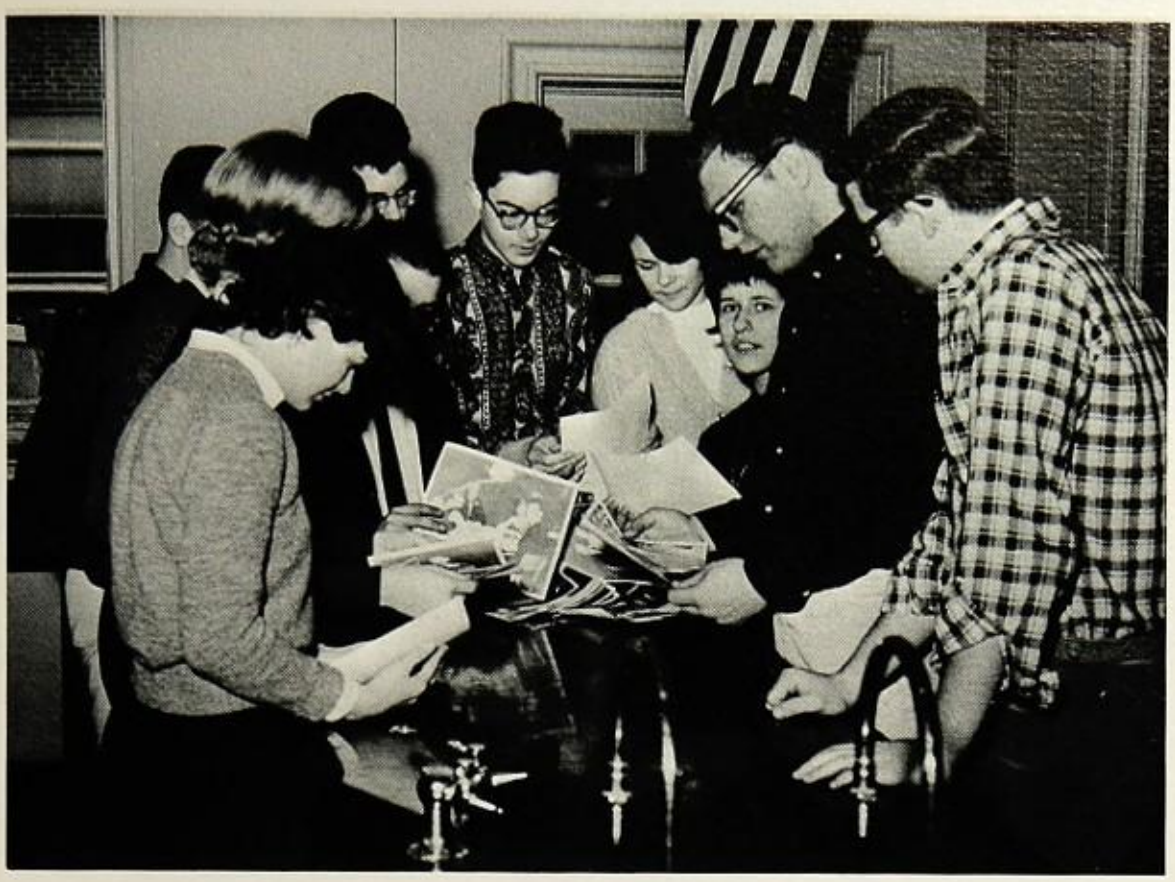
"Then you jab him with the other pole" (Jim Lasek demonstrates how to defend yourself on the ski slope, as president Fran Maineri, fascinated, looks on.)

Mt. Southington's ski slope, overlooking the quaint alpine village of Plantsville, has among other things brought prosperity to Southington, artificial snow to its mountainsides and a ski club to its high school.

Enjoying spectacular success, the ski club, the last and most important item on the list, has compiled one of the longest membership rolls in the school.

And not only is it one of the most popular organizations "on campus", but also — with the aid of dues — one of the wealthiest.

Bucking poor weather (it was 70° on Christmas Day) and a multitude of sprains, bangs, bruises, and breaks, the club courageously rolls on ..... down the slope.



Members of the photography club are found exchanging critical reviews of their work.

There have been very few clubs in the history of the United States which can truly be called "service organizations". One such one was the Committee for Correspondence. Another was the Underground Railroad. A third though, and most recent club is the Southington High School's own Photography Club.

Headed by Mr. Arthur O'Brasky, club advisor, and Dan Jones, president, the club has kept abreast with events at S.H.S. and provided the school with pictures of everything from sports events to the National Honor Society Induction.

On more than one occasion this year, the well-manned crew of photo bugs have surprised students with a tap on the shoulder and a "Smile. You're on ..... candid showcase?"

What would a sporting event at Southington High School be without the cheerleaders? It would probably lose all its meaning and merely degenerate into a contest between two teams. Of course this aspect is secondary to the entertainment of the crowd and the display of school spirit.

Leading their cheering schoolmates and generally adding to the festive atmosphere takes long hours of practice centered around difficult routines. In the meantime, the girls must maintain the high standards of the C.I.A.C.'s rules governing scholastic eligibility, (designed primarily for boys' sports). Our cheerleaders deserve a word of praise for the tremendous part they play in the success of athletics at S.H.S.

Al Furst seems to be amusing the witness (Noreen Rich) as judge Dave Carbone and clerk of the court Jim Goggin enjoy the joke.

Youth Day

Jack McBride cross-examines Bib Nigro.

Youth Day was originally established for the purpose of providing students with the opportunity to experience the realities of town government, and it has served its purpose well. All students, regardless of curriculum, are awakened to the fact that government is something more than a mechanism of laws and complexities; but rather its purpose of sound, honest, efficient government is dependent upon the interested citizens of which it is composed. The direct experience of actually playing the role of a selectman, water commissioner, or tax collector makes the student more aware of his responsibilities as a pupil, citizen, and would-be voter.

Ron Tyrell (28) rounds the corner and turns on the speed while leading the Blue Knights to a 56-14 romp of Crosby.

Dancing follows the crowning as the candidates and their escorts lead the first number.

Homecoming was originated in 1960 by Joseph Fontana. It was created to bring about a spirited weekend of football and fun.

The crowning of the Homecoming Queen is the highlight of the weekend. Any girl in our school may be chosen as queen. Ten girls are nominated by the vote of the student body, the queen and her court are then selected from these. Doreen Standish was elected queen for 1964-1965. Her court consisted of Patricia Cessario, Pamela Stetson, Jayne Martin, and Alice Bouchard. A parade is held before the game with the queen and her court riding through town in convertibles. After the game, a victory (what else?) dance is held to round out the Homecoming weekend's "Trilogy" of gay activities.

Homecoming queen, Doreen Standish, gives a friendly wave during the halftime festivities.

Chronicle

The spirit of the 1965 Chronicle staff is one of progress; not progress for the sake of destroying tradition but rather progress for the sake of improvement. We have tried to combine our limited skill with experience gathered from association with the staff of the '64 Chronicle.

On the foundation of the almost revolutionary '64 Chronicle, alterations and improvements were made in the Southington yearbook. Such innovations included color end pictures and an underclassmen section. One of the major problems in the production was to keep the book from becoming bulky and cluttered. Great care was taken in the decision of what to eliminate and what to revise, so that the end product might be one of tasteful simplicity.

The task was not an easy one. As in all organizations, there were occasional disagreements and inevitable setbacks, but we feel that we have patiently met and solved each crisis, and have therefore presented you, the students, with a culmination of spirit, effort, and a sincere desire to produce a fine yearbook.

It's one of those last hectic days before a deadline.

Sports

"All our cheers are for the blue . . ."

The cheers of the fans and students echoed across the football field as the Blue Knights went undefeated. The shouts of joy and victory rang through the gymnasium as the Knights staged a comeback in basketball. But there was defeat; there was despair. Yet on the field of athletics both of these serve the same purpose as victory; molding young character. The athletic year of 1964-65 will go down in Southington history as one of the finest.

Knights Roll

Almost as naturally as the leaves falling in the Autumn, this year's Blue Knights edition kept up a long tradition of winning football teams.

Shakily at first, the senior-laden squad edged Newington 20-19. After a poor first, the Knights steamrolled Bristol Eastern, 30-0.

Then the big test, Pulaski High of New Britain. Stunned by the Generals speed and deception Southington found itself down, 20-6 at the half. With a tremendous second half effort the Blue Knights surged ahead and grimly held on to win, 32-26. It was a great win, but the sidelining of Co-captain Jim Scott with a dangerous concussion was a sad loss to the team.

From then on, the Blue Knights were a powerful football machine as they successively blanked Woodrow Wilson, Middletown, and Cheshire.

Next came scoring sprees against Crosby, 56-12, and Windsor, 38-0.

Finally came the Thanksgiving Day battle with arch-rival Plainville. With both teams undefeated, they grudgingly battled to an 8-8 halftime deadlock. The second proved the superior team as the Knights hammered the Devils into defeat. The score 26-8.

This second consecutive undefeated season boosted coach Joseph Orsene's four year record to 34-2-1, with two state and three league championships.

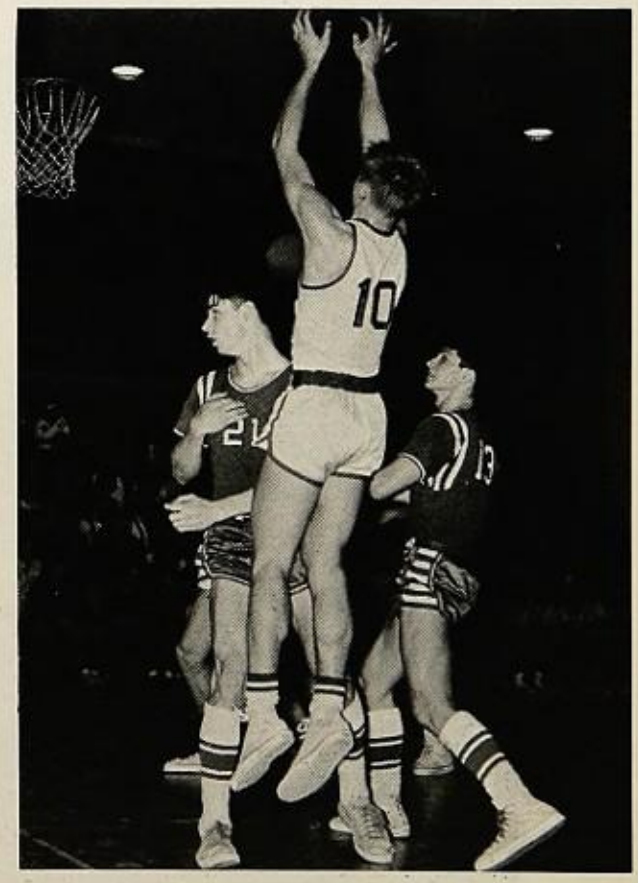
But Record Improves

For the fourth straight year, the basketball team at S.H.S. failed to qualify for the C.I.A.C. tournament. Nevertheless, there was a marked improvement over the teams of the past few years. The players showed a great desire and hustled even during the worst beatings. Captains, John Aduskevich and Wayne Chopus, were true leaders, setting an example of good sportsmanship and hard work for the rest of the team.

By the first half of the season, the team had lost but three games and was in the midst of the battle for the CVC crown. Then disaster struck, as a plague of injuries and illnesses accompanied the team for the rest of the season. It was not until the last game of the season that the entire squad was once again in shape.

Although the year closed with a 10-11 record, the boys displayed quick action and fine spirit. The sophomore and junior members of the varsity squad along with the Jayvees, who posted a 15-5 record seem destined to combine for a victorious season next year. At least this the way head coach Walter Lozoski and his assistant Dominic D'Angelo feel, and we tend to agree.



Jack Kowalski fires a jumper as Carl Tinti (21) and Ed Warayas (13) turn for the rebound.

Knights Seek to

Coach John Fontana discusses the season ahead with Captain Jim Scott, at an early spring practice.

After a year of disappointment the Knights have high hopes for springing back into the win column. Coach John Fontana's team didn't come through with the great season that was predicted in 1964, but with the return of a good number of lettermen the outlook for the 1965 year is optimistic. The efforts of Captain Jim Scott, with Wayne Chopus, and Jack Kowalski will serve as the spearhead for the Knights attack. Backed by a solid line of veterans and some hopeful newcomers, we should regain our status as a baseball power.

Pain . . . Agony . . .

In his second year as track coach, Mr. Wayne Nakoneczny pushed the members of the team to their limit of physical endurance and beyond. Never before has the enthusiasm of the runners been so high or their effort so complete. 1965 hopes to be a year of great interest and achievement on and around the track with such stars as Steve Frank, and captain George Wood pacing the trackmen.

Hoping to improve on the 7-4 record of 1964, the team started practice in mid-winter. Pain-agony-torture; are the three words used to describe their training. Achievement-success-glory; are the words to describe the expectations of the season.

GIRLS 1965 BASKETBALL TEAM

Basketball

Playing a fast paced game with decisiveness and sure skill the girls' varsity basketball team none-the-less experienced a disappointing 1-9 record. Co-captains Marie Papallo and Pat Rossi were undaunted by the stiff oposition and low scores and never forgot fair play and good sportsmanship.

Coaching the team was Mrs. Brackley, whose patient efforts served as an inspiration for the girls.

The Junior Varsity team finished with a 5-1 record, displaying tremendous promise for next year.

GIRLS 1964-65 FIELD HOCKEY TEAM

Field Hockey

The girls' Field Hockey team combined speed, skill, talent and a strong determination to win. Although finishing with a 3-2 record, the girls at all times functioned as a well co-ordinated unit. Under the invaluable coaching efforts of Mrs. Brackley, Co-captains Barbara Tompkins and Linda Ross lead the team in fine sportsmanship, completing a satisfying season.

"As We Upward,
Onward Move . . . "

Southington, Connecticut has been good to us these four years. It has served as our home, nursed and coddled us, watched us grow and mature. Soon this town, which has doubled since we were born, will watch us depart for "who knows where". Our debt of gratitude can never be paid. We can only hope that someday we can give it something in return; our town, our home.
